Mastering Clinical Challenges and Emerging Therapies in IBD

Chicago, IL – New findings, new techniques, and recent efforts in research and discovery have changed the way physicians treat their patients – taking a more individualized approach. This conference provides important clinical updates in the management of patients with inflammatory bowel disease.

Lectures to include:

- Patient Reported Outcomes in IBD: What are they and what does the clinician need to know?
- What are the factors that should influence choice of first therapy in IBD? Understanding longitudinal severity
- Treating to achieve a target and disease monitoring in 2015: State of the art
- The IBD patient in pain
- Selection and use of the non-anti-TNF biological therapies? Who? When? How?
